

The Ahrens Lab at Janelia Research Campus studies neuron-glia mechanisms for behavioral flexibility in zebrafish. Transitioning from mathematics to computational and then experimental neuroscience, Misha's focus is on combining ethology, neurotechnology, and computational approaches to understanding the nervous system.