

1- Day cultural trip in Taipei

Date : 2020 / 02 / 08

Day.1	Howard Civil Service International House ▶ Just Sleep Taipei NTU ▶ National Palace Museum ▶ Silks palace taiwanese food court ▶ DaDaoCheng(大稻埕) ▶ return home~
0730-0800	Good morning~Gather at the Howard Civil Service International House& Just Sleep Taipei NTU,please vest and wearing a red lion leader seat allocation report. To facilitate the work
0830-1130	National Palace Museum The National Palace Museum, located in Taipei,Taiwan,has a permanent collection of nearly 700,000 pieces of ancient Chinese imperial artifacts and artworks,making it one of the largest of its type in the world.The collection encompasses 8,000 years of history of Chinese art from the Neolithic age to the modern.Most of the collection are high quality pieces collected by China's emperors.The National Palace Museum shares its roots with the Palace Museum in the Forbidden City, whose extensive collection of artwork and artifacts were built upon the imperial collections of the Ming and Qing dynasties.
1200-1330	Silks palace taiwanese food court Dine among and on imperial treasures at the Grand Opening of Silks Palace. The art of Chinese cuisine can now be experienced by the public in Taipei alongside the most comprehensive collection of Chinese artifacts in the world!

DaDaoCheng(大稻埕)

Dadaocheng (大稻埕) is undoubtedly one of Taipei's most compelling neighborhoods and best places to explore on foot. While Wanhua, the historical Old City to the south, is a magnet for tourists, serious history & culture fans can't miss Dadaocheng.

Twatutia, as Dadaocheng is pronounced in the Hokkien (Taiwanese) language, was once the second largest city in Taiwan after Tainan, the original capital in the south,

1400-1700

Most goods entered Taipei at Twatutia Wharf on the Tamsui (Danshui) River. Dihua Street, the area's main thoroughfare, developed into a sprawling place of trade in tea, medicine, herbs, fabrics, and all manner of dried goods, as it remains today. The area also contains some of the most interesting temples in Taipei.

1730--

Goodbye treasure, look at the next reunion~

